

THE GOOD AND THE BAD PARTS ABOUT BECOMING A PARENT.

Write down your own thoughts about the good and bad parts about becoming a parent. Do not judge your partner as simply acknowledgement can make you feel heard.

| GOOD STUFF | BAD STUFF |
|------------|-----------|
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |
|            |           |